

AkitaBox Connect

End the pain of traditional construction document handover with a seamless connection between construction and operations. Instantly move construction documents from Procore to AkitaBox without the need for a physical handover.

For Building Owners

Leverage critical data for managing your facilities on day one and ensure nothing is lost in transition. Consolidate all relevant facility and asset data into a single solution by connecting documents from the construction lifecycle directly to your facility management solution.

For Contractors

Simplify the construction handover process to building owners and save time and money delivering facility documents.

Improve Efficiency

Create a seamless connection between construction and operations. Eliminate the long, drawn out handover process with overwhelming, hard-to-navigate handover deliverables.

Mitigate Costly Processes

Streamline the process from project completion to facility management and save yourself time and money. Optimize the handover process with a smooth integration for a simplified workflow.

Why AkitaBox for Facilities Management?

- Always access real-time, living asset data
- Experience accurate, interactive digital floor plans
- Update notes and upload photos while in the field
- Easily report on your facility's condition and lifecycle data
- Asset & maintenance management, capital planning, inspections, and facility condition assessments in one simple platform

